Claims 1-15 have been cancelled. The active claims are 16-38.

A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101 which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v. Eagle Mfg. Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

Claims 20-25 and 30-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as claiming the same invention as that of claims 1-14 of prior U.S. Patent No. 6,751,667. This is a double patenting rejection.

Details of the rejection have already been set forth in the last Office action. The details are incorporated herein by reference thereto.

Volatile memory is inherently faster than the non-volatile.

Claims 1-15 of patent USP 6,751,667 contain(s) every element of claims 16-19, 26-29, 35-38 of the instant application and as such anticipate(s) claims 16-19, 26-29, 35-38 of the instant application.

"A later patent claim is not patentably distinct from an earlier patent claim if the later claim is obvious over, or anticipated by, the earlier claim. In re Longi, 759 F.2d at 896, 225 USPQ at 651 (affirming a holding of obviousness-type double patenting because the claims at issue were obvious over claims in four prior art patents); In re Berg, 140 F.3d at 1437, 46 USPQ2d at 1233 (Fed. Cir. 1998) (affirming a holding of obviousness-type double patenting where a patent application claim to a genus is anticipated by a patent claim to a species within that genus). " ELI LILLY AND COMPANY v BARR LABORATORIES, INC., United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, ON

PETITION FOR REHEARING EN BANC (DECIDED: May 30, 2001).

Claims 16-19, 26-29 and 33-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is not clear what "storing – a field including a number subfield and a range subfield in a volatile memory" means. Note that a field is not something that can be stored in memory. Note that a field is a name commonly given to a particular section of a memory. It is not clear what "a value of the range subfield" is.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 16-19, 26-29 and 33-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tedesco (USP 6,421,651).

See column 4 lines 59-63 in Tedesco. Tedesco teaches method and apparatus for generating unique new identifier. A new and unique identifier is generated by incrementing the last generated identifier stored in a queue. Whether the last and the new identifier are stored in a volatile or non-volatile memories is a matter of design choice. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to store the root of the generated identifiers in a non-volatile so that the root still available even when power is interrupted.
